

Deep Ecology & Engaged Buddhism exploration workshop

‘Buddha Touched the Earth’

As we care enough to take risks, we loosen the grip of ego and begin to come home to our true nature. For in the co-arising nature of things, the world itself, if we are bold enough to love it, acts through us. ~Joanna Macy

Eve Thurs 26 Sept – Sun 29 Sept 2013

Held in the Yarra Valley, Victoria

Facilitators: John Seed, Christine Thompson & Carin Eisen.

A benefit for tree ordination in Cambodia

$160 - $300 incl accom, meals & facilitation.

This workshop brings together Buddhist meditation with experiential deep ecology processes including yoga, sitting and walking meditation and experiential deep ecology processes dissolving the separation between human and nature.

More information:

http://fore.research.yale.edu/files/Seed\_buddha-touched-the-earth.pdf

Queries: 0407 650026

Workshop info & bookings:

www.openheartedtransformation.com.au/deep-ecology-engaged-buddhism